fact ...WHERE DID IT ALL START

Mooiberge and its location need little introduction, even if it is more widely known as "you know that farm stall with the crazy oversupply of scarecrows". The history of this landmark is, however, perhaps a little less known. So pull up a chair...

The 1950s saw the humble beginnings of Mooiberge, at the hands of the late Samuel and Josie Zetler. Five strapping sons soon joined the family and followed in their father's farm boots. The hard work and effort of the five brothers would add several more farms to the family business as it continued to grow.

Before the 1970s, strawberries from these farms were sold at the side of the road from an unassuming wooden cart. Everyone did their share in producing delectable home-made products and soon enough this modest venture grew too large and successful for the faithful little cart. A bricks and mortar farm stall was quickly established in response to consumer demand, selling everything from fruit to wine barrels, vegetables, nuts, jams, preserves and biltong (a fresh farm food lover's cornucopia!).

Now, over 60 years on from her beginning, Mother Mooiberge welcomes the latest of her brood - The Farmer's Kitchen. Everybody loves strawberries, especially all of us at Mooiberge, so why don't you indulge in something from our delicious strawberry inspired menu? Go on, you know you want to. Do it!
