hamburgers

let's "meat" before we eat

i, your hamburger, consist of 200grams of pure beef with absolutely nothing else added to me....,not even salt. i am served on top of a toasted burger roll topped with fresh lettuce, sliced red onion, tomatoe & gherkins with a creamy burger mayo & caramelised onions.....i only settle for the best!!

let's get this straight! are we comparing apples with apples or not ?

weighing in at a full 200grams of pure aged beef most probably makes me the biggest & thickest hamburger patty around with most all other burgers are made with only 150 gram patties. that means that you not only score 25% when tucking in, but you can also decide how you would like to have me done...well-done, medium, medium-rare.. just the same way you order your steak.....versatile" is my 2nd name boet.

talking about comparing apples with apples, i nearly forgot to tell you about the free fries & onion rings. all burgers are priced & served with the fries & old style onion rings included in the price. it is for free !!!

banting? replace the burger roll with mildly spiced butter-fried brown mushrooms after having checked that the toppings are okay for banterers being a man of fashion you will note below that I dress myself with many different suits.

let us enjoy our time together.
It is great to have met you. MAKE ME PROUD!!
