AUTHENTIC FARM EXPERIENCE IN THE CITY

In 1979 Janet and Steven Geyer, together with their 1 year old daughter, Tanya, decided to move from Elardus Park to start a new life on Portion 37 of the farm Doornkloof 391 JR, which they then named "Gum Tree Farm". Shortly after moving to the farm, Barry was born and a year later, Brian arrived.

Little did they know the adventures that lay ahead. What started out as a couple of hectares of open land on the outskirts of Centurion, slowly began to change into a lush and productive farm. A perfect haven for the children to grow up in, and learn the ins- and outs of farm life.

There was never a dull moment on the farm. With an operational feedlot of cattle, opportunity was always knocking on the door for the children. Pocket money was earned by sweeping up cow manure, bagging it up and selling it to friends and family for use in their gardens. With pets such as pot belly pigs in the house and goats, ostriches, guinea pigs, geese and ducks in the garden, there was always plenty to do.

Somewhere along the line Barry started his own company called "Barry's Chicks". Barry Chicks produced the most amazing fresh chickens that were sold at local butchers, shops and straight from the farm.

One day Barry popped into the neighbour's farm to pick some seeds that had fallen from a big, old tree; he planted the seeds in a bag and quickly saw the potential of growing trees. From this spawned the company "Willow [Tree] Feather [Chicken] Farm". Barry ran the company, building up a healthy stock of trees – all grown from seeds collected in the area. Realising that the world needed trees more than chickens, Willow Feather Farm started concentrating primarily on the planting of indigenous trees, and phased out its chicken farming operation. Willow Feather Farm now carries over 500 000 indigenous trees, all planted from seeds or seedlings on the farm!

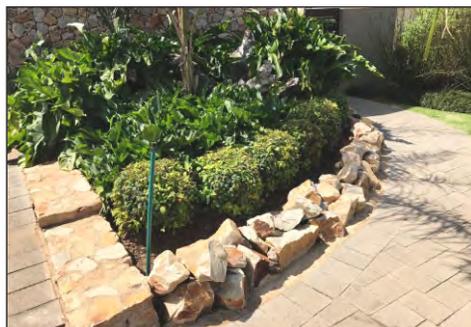

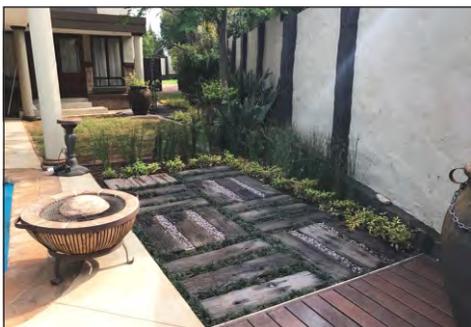

We think it is important to expose city children to farm life, so we have recreated the experiences we had as children on the farm for all children and families in the community to enjoy. This has been achieved by our animal farmyard that allows children to interact with many farm animals, while the parents relax in our tea garden, which rolls into a beautiful garden, with plenty of space for children to run and play.

We aim to do everything we can to rekindle the inherent love we all have for trees and encourage everyone to plant as many trees as they can in their lifetimes.

Our Farm - 8,5 hectares packed with over half a million trees!
