

A Plant Based African Taste Safari

Africa is the second largest land mass on earth and home to hundreds of tribes, ethnic and social groups. This diversity is reflected in our cuisine.

Geographically and from a culinary point of view, the continent can be divided into three principal regions: North Africa, sub-Saharan and Southern Africa. Contrary to popular western perceptions of a predominantly meat-based diet many traditional African dishes contain very little meat. In fact, authentic African cooking consists largely of organically produced whole grains and beans, fresh fruit and vegetables. In an increasingly health-conscious society, African cuisine may well become the new healthy way of cooking.

OUR ENTIRE SET MENU IS SERVED AT YOUR TABLE IN SHARING AND INDIVIDUAL PORTIONS. YOU ARE WELCOME TO ORDER MORE OF ANY OF THE DISHES.

Summer garden salad with roasted seeds

Fresh summer greens with roasted seeds and for a delicious start to our African Feast. Served with a honey and mustard dressing.

South African vetkoek

Old-fashioned vetkoek (literally translated as "fat cakes") are delightful, homely buns, made from bread dough and deepfried

East African pumpkin fritters with baharat

Baharat means spices in Arabic. This spice blend has travelled through Africa from the Middle East and is used to flavour meat and vegetables. We use Baharat for our savoury pumpkin fritters which of course can also be sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar for a sweet version

Egyptian butterbean mash with dukkah

Dukkah is a dry mix prepared with nuts, sesame seeds, coriander and cumin. We serve this with a soft butterbean mash

Xhosa imfino patties

These patties combine two of Africa's staples, maize and spinach. Usually eaten by hand, we have combined them into an easy-to-eat patty

Morrocan zeilook

A very traditional dip from Morocco consisting of roasted aubergine, tomato, garlic and olive oil.

Egyptian spicy lentils

North African spices abound in this earthy lentil dish

Tanzanian vegetable curry

Delicately flavoured vegetable curry with coconut milk

Moroccan cous cous with summer vegetables and chick pea

This North african staple made from Semolina grains will be found in most homes at one or all meals. This dish celebrates our abundant seasonal vegetables

Tunisian tabbouleh salad with baharat spice

This fresh take on the traditional Arab bulgar wheat version consists of raw broccoli, cauliflower, cucumbers and blood orange olive oil

Moroccan olive and bean tagine

All the flavours and gentle spices from North Africa are combined to create a vegetarian tagine (North African clay or ceramic pan)

Siera Leone red pepper relish

Inspired by a traditional red pepper chicken dish, this relish can be enjoyed with any of the mains

Cape Town vegan chocolate ice cream and fresh seasonal fruit

A rich and creamy ice cream made with coconut milk ends off your feast and settles your stomach
